ABOUT

Chameleon Concepts is the brainchild of Shelley Stein-Bigajer, an interior designer and graduate of the Parsons School of Design. After working with countless clients, Shelley noticed a need within the vanity marketplace. Her vision was to design a vanity that could adapt to any space or decorating style while still maintaining the individuality and integrity of its design.

In 2014, Shelley teamed up with Eli Mechlovitz, a well-known “Industry Disruptor” and owner of Soho Studio Corp. Eli is a proponent of creating seamless customer experiences while offering high quality products.

Together they founded Chameleon Concepts; an innovative bathroom vanity brand that celebrates personalized luxury without compromising on functionality.

Chameleon Concepts caters to the wholesale and designer market. Chameleon Concepts vanities are distributed across the United States and are protected under US Patents 735,499 and 742,611.

MATERIAL SPECIFICATIONS

Material

Our vanities are manufactured using medium density fiberboard (MDF). MDF is produced by dry-pressing timber fibers together with synthetic resins to bind them. It has a plain homogeneous structure with a surface finishing resulting in smooth sides and edges. This allows it to be a perfect material for lacquers. MDF can be cut, milled, and mechanized efficiently.

Finishing

Our lacquers are protected by extra hardeners to provide them with additional to resistance and wear. The interiors of our vanities are painted as well to achieve an overall elegance.

Installation

Each vanity is wall hung using a unique metal bracket that is supplied. By integrating the installation bracket into the vanity, the load capacity for wall-hung vanity can reach 530lbs. The bracket are adjustable in height and depth.

Internal Hardware

Each vanity is outfitted with Blum 4D Runner glides and feature the “blumotion” soft close system. The drawers are ultra slim and metallic to maximize their use and capacity.
